TRUCKTRANSFORMER

Fire departments can use the TruckTransformer system as a cost saving measure and to improve efficiency. Pod units can be outfitted prior to deployment with specialized equipment and transported with the TruckTransformer to leave at emergency scenes. Tools and equipment can also be stored in a container and transported with the TruckTransformer to be used and stored on site.

One truck and one truck driver can easily load and unload these units freeing up extra fire fighters for more pressing matters. Pod units can later be retrieved and stored all year ready for deployment at a moment's notice.

The TruckTransformer system can also be used for transporting equipment such as water tanks, bobcats, mini excavators, ATV units and more to fight forest fires or access remote areas.

Now one truck and one TruckTransformer can be used to transport specific tools and equipment for unique scenarios. Simply back under any pod unit, skid or truck body and the system will load up to 11,000lbs. Pod Units could include:

- Forest Fire Units
- Chemical Fire Units
- Auxiliary Lighting Units
- Hazardous Material Response Units
- Command Post and Communications Units
- Load Sea Containers, Flat Decks, Skids and more
